

Chromametrics

23 January 2016, 10:00 - 17:00

University of Amsterdam, Science Park 904, Amsterdam

Content

This course will teach you about Chromametrics: about expanding the possibilities of chemometrics in the chromatographic domain.

Target audience

The course is taught in the framework of the MSc+ program for talents in Master education (University). Therefore, the course is well fit for employees at that level.

Lecturer

Dr. Gabriel Vivó Truyols

Assistant professor at the Van 't Hoff Institute for Molecular Sciences of University of Amsterdam and Principal Scientist at Tecnometrix

Gabriel Vivó Truyols received his MSc in Chemistry from the University of Balearic Islands in 1998. In 2004 he obtained his PhD from the University of Valencia (Spain). From 2004 until 2007 he worked as a post-doc researcher conducting different projects in a broad range of applications, with an emphasis on the development of algorithms for data multivariate data treatment and optimization of chromatographic methods. He then worked as a Chemometrics specialist at BP and as Assistant professor at the University of Balearic Islands. In 2009 he was appointed Assistant Professor at the Van 't Hoff Institute for Molecular Sciences of the University of Amsterdam. In the same year he became principal scientist at his own spin-off company Tecnometrix, where he delivers consultancy and tailored software for specific applications for the chemical industry.

At the end of the course

You will have gained knowledge of the basics of Chromametrics, its applications and recent developments.
